"KING" FOOTBALL, SORE RIVAL, HOLDS STAGE

Diamond Sport Keeps Limelight but Not for Long—"Real" Game Soon.

New York, Sept. 28.—Of King Football registered anger and resentment today when he popped in for a brief visit. "The cause, please," he asked, "is that I, who wouldn't get peevish, I'd like to know," he growled, "Here's one ready to do my act and I can't get on because that ham actor, Baseball, holds the stage. It's about time that guy got the curtain. His act isn't no good anyway. He thinks it's a thriller. I'd like to see a mess as an entertainer. As for me, well, you just wait until I get that stage. I'll show you some lid-lifting stunt this year. I got a lotta new tricks and improved on some of my old ones. I'm there, I tell you."

"When do you exhibit?" "Me? You mean on the big stage, hey? Well, I'll be on somewhere along about October 14. That's when I'll make some sort of option on the boards until after he does his world seriesing skit. And then I begin putting on my big act. And it's a bird, believe you uncle. I'm exhibiting a little power, doing a bit of side show work to just sort of tune up for the grand, glorious big time stuff."

"Pretty good act this year, eh?" "Good! Why, that ain't no name for it. Magnificent, majestic, marvelous—that's the way to talk about it. I'm going to bust some entirely new tricks in the passing line; something far better than the lateral pass, the short and the long forward pass and all the old stuff. I gotta great act, I tell you. Don't miss seeing me when I come out."

"And with me 'I'll see you later,' O' Kink Football went on his way. A flock of football enthusiasts gathered the other day and, of course, the subject shifted to the gridiron and its past and present status.

"Walter Eckersall was the greatest quarterback that ever donned the armor," advanced a Western rooter. And although the gathering included a few from Yale, Harvard, Cornell, Pennsylvania and Princeton, no one disputed the assertion.

"In all around play Eckersall never had a peer," continued the Westerner. "He was a punter and a drop kicker whose deeds still are fresh in memory. He was one of the headiest field generals the game ever produced. He was a wonder in playing defensive back and could make greater gains through a broken field than any other runner of the past or present."

"The glory of Eckersall becomes even more apparent when one remembers the fact that during the four years he starred for the University of Chicago, no team he never was put out of a game. Only once was time taken out for him. Yet, in every game that Chicago played, Eckersall was the center of attack; every foe was intent upon disposing of him because he feared him more than any other man on the team—or any three men, for that matter."

"Eckersall, all during the time he played, never weighed more than 145 pounds, yet he starred in an era when beef and brawn were requisites for a varsity football job. They laid for Eckersall and they tried to put him out—but they never succeeded."

Auto Records Are Expected.

New York, Sept. 28.—That some record-breaking time will be displayed tomorrow, when entrants in the Astor cup race go around the track at Sheephead Bay Speedway, is evidenced by the performance of two sunbeam cars in the elimination trials. These two machines, driven by Joseph Christians and Louis Chevrolet, broke the record for cars of 300-inch displacement, each doing 115 miles an hour. Twenty-eight qualified for the dash yesterday, and six more will make the trials today.

HOW THE GIANTS CAN WIN THE PENNANT

If New York can win all of its remaining games—even in number—while Boston is taking the rest out of six from the Phillies, and Brooklyn one out of the present series of three, the Giants will win the pennant. The standing would then be:

	Won.	Lost.
New York	91	62
Brooklyn	91	63
Phillies	90	63
Boston	89	64

That hope is based on a slim chance. With New York winning all its games and Brooklyn taking the two from the Phillies, the standing of the two leading clubs would then be:

	Won.	Lost.
New York	92	62
Brooklyn	91	62
Phillies	91	63
Boston	90	64

Finally, if the Phillies, after winning two from Brooklyn, simply split even with the Braves in their six-game series, the standing would be:

	Won.	Lost.
New York	92	61
Brooklyn	91	62
Phillies	92	61
Boston	90	64

DOPEY DAN AND LON

"Say, boss, wasn't this psychological moment thing I hear so much fuss about?"

Why, Lon, the psychological moment is that sassy lil' space o' time that keeps fidgetin' around, an' then suddenly hobs up in a guy's life so as 'e give him a chance to either make himself a hero or a big bunch o' nothin'. It just depends on how he uses it.

The difference 'tween the psychological an' other lil' common, ordinary, everyday moments is the importance attached to it when it does show its face, an' it ain't no moment 'e be trified with no matter who ya are.

It's a slippery lil' moment, an' there ain't no sure way o' tellin' just when it's comin' around. But it's got some good points, 'cause it never plays favorites, an' ain't a bit o' snob.

It's as willin' 't pay a call on the freckled faced servant girl, who's got her stage set to smother 'im, as it is on the young leeman, as it would be 't hob-nob with the Presidential candidate who's makin' a close run.

It can make itself just as comfortable in the 's by 'n hall room of the overworked salesgirl, who's tryin' 't make good, as in the sweet scented salon of the society siren, who'd sell her soul for sensations.

It'll tango right up 't a strivin' movin' picture actress an' kiss her in the mouth with the same freedom it 'tosh-holds a new wrestler, an' tells him his time has come.

It's got just as much regard for the green rookie ballplayer tryin' 't break in the league, as it has for a swell stock broker, who is dabblin' in stocks.

It'll straddle a thoroughbred when he's makin' his run with the same nerve it enters a poker game, an' makes eyes to a "bluff."

It'll warn ya 't keep quiet when you're just itchin' 't talk an' then tip ya 't yodel when ya can't say a word.

In short, lad, it's one o' the most pestiferous lil' moments you'd ever care 't meet, but it's lucky for all that it behaves like it does, 'cause if we all knowed its habits the Millennium would be here, an' when that comes 't pass the fun o' livin' 'll be gone.

Not—Lon says don't go out an' get cussed just 'cause the "babe" is cryin'. Cats wouldn't make them terrible nosy if they knowed what chances they took.

BABE RUTH IN FORM; SOX DEFEAT YANKEES

Boston Hands Zeros to New York in Second Game of Series. Gedeon Hits Ball.

Boston, Sept. 28.—With "Babe" Ruth on the mound, Boston shut out New York today 3 to 0. Gedeon and Magee were the only Yankees who could do anything with Ruth's delivery. Gedeon getting three of the five hits, and Magee a single and a double.

Boston scored three runs in the second. Gardner got a cheap double to left, when Ruth took the ball and it went over his head. He got to third on Scott's single and scored when Pipp dropped the ball. Walters throw to get Scott off first. Thomas drew a pass, and while Shawkey was throwing out Ruth at first Scott took third and Thomas second. Hooper scored Scott on a long sacrifice fly to left and Thomas tallied when Jamison tripled to right.

Shawkey then tightened and Boston never had another chance of scoring in the eighth inning a threatening rally by the Yankees was cut short with a double play. With the bases filled, and one out, Numanaker, former Red Sox, batting for Pipp, drove a hot liner, which Ruth grabbed and threw to Gardner, doubling the runner at third. Score:

	W.	L.
New York	91	62
Brooklyn	91	63
Phillies	90	63
Boston	89	64

AGGIE SCRIMMAGE AT HILLTOP TODAY

The Hilltop gridironers are pretty good mud horses as Coach Albert Exendine drove the players through two hours and a half signal practice yesterday on the Georgetown field, which was water-soaked. The downpour of rain, which fell while the squad was working out, did not seem to halt these Hilltoppers, as they handled the forward pass with midseason form and the slippery ball did not seem to hinder them.

Burland, who played the center position on the second eleven last season, was the only new player to put in appearance yesterday. He looks to be in good condition and may be given a chance in the scrimmage work today.

The Maryland Staters from College Park, Md., will be on hand at the Hilltop today when another scrimmage drill will be held between these squads. A shake-up will be made in the Georgetown line today, while no practice will be held this afternoon, as most of the players will journey to Annapolis to witness the Navy-Dickinson game.

CARROLL INSTITUTE TO HAVE GRID TEAM

Carroll Institute, which has been without a football team since 1900, will be in the field this season with a team, according to information gathered out of the meeting held at that place last Wednesday night. Sixteen members for the newly organized team reported at the meeting the other night and everyone will be given a thorough tryout.

The schedule of games has not been arranged as yet but Capt. Blumer expects to have the complete list of contests shortly. The team in its present state will average 135 pounds.

WILL NEVER RETURN.

Jack Johnson, Negro Pug, Has Settled Down in Spain.

Jack Johnson is never coming back. He's settled down in Barcelona, Spain, and is going to stay there. He has just written a friend in this country, about his interesting sentences about himself, and they are as follows:

"The people of this country," writes Jack, "are broad-minded. They don't think that because a man's skin is black he should be persecuted and forced to get off the earth. I'm not broke, as some of the American papers say. I am, nor am I anywhere near broke. I'll have money when some of those mean persons who have made things so hard and unpleasant for me will be asking the sporting people to give them benefits."

My cafe is the most elegant in Barcelona, and some of the best citizens are my patrons. I wouldn't trade it for the best cafe in New York, Chicago or San Francisco.

"I am glad to hear that Jesse Willard is doing well. He is lucky to have a white skin. If it were black the American people would be treating him just as unfairly as they did me."

TWO GAMES TODAY IN THE CRUCIAL SERIES

Phillies and Dodgers to Play Morning and Evening Contest for National League Lead.

Back in their second line trenches the Dodgers today will send their attacking forces against the Quaker City Phillies, in a double duel. Defeated, but not utterly routed in their first efforts on Thursday and holding the lines yesterday, the Ebbetts are preparing to regain their lost ground by being returned winners in the two contests today.

In the meantime Pat Moran's wrecking crew, from "Slumbertown," having swamped the Brooklynites in their first assault are consolidating their entire forces and positions to get an armor plate hold on pennant.

In Thursday's mortal combat the Dodgers played anything but like a championship team. The nine assaulting waves that the Phillies hurled against their lines overwhelmed them and they retired to bolster up their defenses for the other conflicts.

Two games will be played today, the first in the morning and the second this afternoon. A drizzling rain fell doing the morning yesterday and when the two teams took the field they were playing on a mud soaked course. Eppa Rixey started the work for the Phillies yesterday. Proffor was the mound selection for the Dodgers.

The Phillies started off like real winners, Paskert walking, but Hancock fouled out to Wheat, and Stock fled to Myers, and Paskert was doubled off first base. Johnson met the first ball pitched for a long line drive to Paskert, starting Brooklyn's half of the inning. Rixey fanned Daubert and Nelhoff threw out Meyers on an easy grounder.

Whitted started the second by flying to Johnson, Cravath fanned and Luderus ended the session when he popped to Myers. Wheat opened up the second for Brooklyn by singling to left. Cuthaw laid down a neat sacrifice, Luderus to Nelhoff and time was called as the rain was coming down by the buckets full.

After awaiting thirty minutes Empire Klem called the game on account of rain. While the Phillies and Dodgers are in their death grapple, partisan rooters of the Giants are figuring out how McGraw's men can clinch the flag.

Here is the way they figure the Giants as winners:

If the Giants win all of their remaining seven games, and the Dodgers win only one of their six games, and the Phillies lose six of their eight games still to be played the standing at the wind-up would be:

	W.	L.
Giants	91	62
Brooklyn	91	63
Phillies	90	63
Boston	89	64

LOUISVILLE WINS FLAG.

Louisville, Ky., Sept. 28.—Louisville seems assured of the American Association pennant now. Rain, which prevented yesterday's game with Indianapolis, makes it necessary for Louisville to win only one game from Toledo to win the flag.

Some say that Bert Niehoff will be out of the game three weeks, but Pat Moran feels confident that he will be ready to take his place on the mound by November 1.

The Pennant Races

To clinch the National League pennant the Phillies must win all of their eight remaining games, which would give them a standing of—

	W.	L.
Phillies	96	57
Dodgers	96	58
Braves	96	60

For if the Dodgers win all of their six games and the Braves win all of their remaining games they will stand—

	W.	L.
Red Sox	91	63
White Sox	90	64
Tigers	88	66

The Phillies have a postponed game with St. Louis and Boston has one with Chicago that cannot be played.

In the American League the Red Sox must win two of their remaining four games to clinch the pennant. They would then stand—

Red Sox	91	63
White Sox	90	64
Tigers	88	66

The Tigers have been eliminated from the race. If they win all their games and the Red Sox lose all theirs Detroit would only tie for first place.

TIGERS BUNCH HITS BEATING BROWNS, 4-1

St. Louis, Mo., Sept. 28.—The Tigers bunched five of their six hits off Wellman in two innings and won today's game from the Browns, 4 to 1. In the fourth Dyer and Cobb singled and Veach doubled. In the eighth Young and Spencer singled, Miller fumbled Spencer's drive and Wellman made a wild pitch which enabled the two runners to score. Mitchell did not give a run until the eighth when Lavan, Paulette and Sisler singled. Score:

	W.	L.
St. Louis	91	62
Brooklyn	91	63
Phillies	90	63
Boston	89	64

DODGERS SWAMPED WITH SEAT REQUESTS

New York, Sept. 28.—Charley Ebbets, president of the Brooklyn National League club, has received orders for about twice as many seats as Ebbets Field contains from fans who want to see the Dodgers in the world series, he announced today.

Native Brooklynites will be given first choice until next Monday, when it will be anybody's chance.

Just now the treasurer is taking any thing that looks like money, but after Monday only certified checks, money orders or cash will purchase admission.

RUMORED HAUGHTON MAY QUIT BASEBALL

Boston, Sept. 28.—A well-defined rumor in baseball circles today declared that President Percy D. Haughton, of the Braves, will retire when the season closes. Pressure of commercial enterprises in which he is interested, as well as Harvard football, is proving a monopoly on his time and it is said he will step out of baseball.

Manager George Stallings, the story goes, will don the president's shoes, with Fred Mitchell, who recently signed a three-year contract with the Braves, in the managerial role. Absolutely no confirmation of these rumors is obtainable.

THE BIGGEST SHOE VALUE IN THE CITY

Rockland Shoes for Men

$2.65 AND $2.85

Come in and look them over

Absolutely no question of it—Rockland Models give more in style, more in good looks, more in wear and present a wider range of models for selection than most shoes that sell for a dollar a pair more. At $2.65 you can pick from over a hundred clever models (most of them exclusive Hirsch designs), in Gun Metal, Patent Leather or Dull Calf, English lasts, Swagger toe, High toe and Conservative lasts. At $2.85 you'll find as attractive an array of tans—dark tans, light tans, mahogany, russet and novelty combinations—as you'll find in all Washington.
